

Says

What have we heard them say?
What can we imagine them saying?

Thinks

What are their wants, needs, hopes, and dreams?
What other thoughts might influence their behavior?

This dataset compresses data that was scraped. It includes:

collection of prices of new and resale houses located in the metropolitan areas of India

The amenities provided for each house

The disparity in development like many other indicators has also been reflected in India

It simply means that there might be shift of house prizes in cities from average in country depending upon its economic statues

The standard price behaviour of a good or its close substitue revels the same price moments.

The tradutional developement theories belived that agriculture are significant in human development of daily life.

The statues of growth of a state can be guded through its performance

Keeping in mind set that above fact of rapid urbanisation and regional dispairaties

The clear definition of the product is requered to compare the product sold at different places

The moment of the residential house price index refelects the behaviour and type of the market prevailing in the country

The moment of the average price index shosw an overall increase in treand with the passeage of time.

Does

What behavior have we observed?
What can we imagine them doing?

Feels

What are their fears, frustrations, and anxieties?
What other feelings might influence their behavior?